As a web developer, I have a desire for creating user-friendly and visually appealing websites that meet the needs of clients and end-users. I also have a strong knowledge of web technologies, including HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Python. I have uploaded several projects that I have developed using these programming languages to my GitHub account, where they are publicly available for viewing. I am committed to expanding my programming skills and plan to learn additional languages such as PHP, as well as other technologies, to enhance my capabilities as a developer.

My Projects
